MAN ADMITS HE RAN OVER MR. ANNIVERSARY OF OLDEST LODGE BULLARD. IN DISTRICT.

Taken Into Custody Today by Detectives Flather and McNamee-His Story of Accident,

Detectives McNamee and Flather have succeeded in solving the case of the accident which resulted in the death of Mr. Otis T. Bullard, the elderly man who was knocked down by a bicycle at 9th and M streets northwest the 16th of this month. They arrested Joseph Meyers, forty-one years old, living at 920 P street northwest, and he admitted that he was the rider of the wheel that struck and knocked down Mr. Bullard. The morning the accident happened, he stated, he left home in time to reach his place of employment at 8 o'clock. At 9th and M streets, he says, the aged pedestrian came out from behind a team, and his bicycle struck against him and knocked him down. He says he re-turned and assisted the victim to the curb. He saw that the latter's head was bleed-ing, and when he said he had not been badly hurt he (Meyers) mounted his wheel and rode to the store where he is employed. He says the affair worried him and made him so nervous that he has not ridden his wheel since. What to do he did not know. He said he had about decided to call on the police and tell of the accident. It was his idea to call today, but the appearance at the store of the detectives prevented him from surrendering. At the inquest held over the remains yesterday the jury heard the testimony of several witnesses, and reached the conclusion that the rider of the bicycle had caused the accident by careless riding. Yesterday afternoon, when the inquest had been finished and the rider of the wheel was not in custody, Major Sylvester offered a reward of $100 for information leading to his arrest. It is likely that the reward will be claimed by the person who furnished the information.

The body of Mr. Bullard has been taken to Holliston, Mass., for interment. Bond Fixed at $1,000.

After the man had given himself up and been formally placed in custody he was turned over to the United States attorney, to take whatever action that might be deemed proper in the case. District Attorney Beach and Assistant District Attorney Given conferred on the matter, and fixed bend at $1,000, which Meyers was required to give to answer to any charges that may be preferred against him. The bond was given, and Meyers was released to await hearing on charges yet to be filed.
Assistant United States Attorney Given, who has the investigation of the case in charge for the government, stated this afternoon that no definite decision had been made as to what charges would be placed against Meyers, and he would confer with the United States attorney on the findings of his investigations before proceeding fur-

The most serious charge that may be placed against Meyers would be that of

LOCAL BRANCH FORMED.

Green-Acre Fellowship Association Organized Here. The Washington branch of the Green-

Acre Fellowship Association held a special meeting Monday evening in the hospitable home of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore, 1916 G street, in honor of Miss Sarah J. Farmer, founder of the summer school and original fellowship association, at Green Acreon-the-Piscataqua, near Eliot, Maine. The work begun by the parent association which was conceived prior to the gathering of the parliament of religions that formed such a distinguished and unique feature of the Chicago exposition, is carried on in the the great faiths of the world. At Green Acre, however, it is felt that religion, in the common acceptance of the word, is not the only tie that binds man to God, but that the mighty industries, the profoundest that the mighty industries, the profoundest philosophies, the most utilitarian sciences, the art of the painter and the genius of the poet are all built upon, permeated and inspired by the same spirit of truth without waich nothing can endure.

The initial work of organizing a branch in this city was undertaken and has been of "The Gloucester," assisted by many able and influential Washingtonians. The membership already numbers more than sixty earnest, enthusiastic men and women, and it is proposed to carry on here during the winter months the same order of work that is done in Green Acre during the sum-

Several short talks were given at Dr. Moore's Monday evening, one by Mr. Albert E. Prentiss of the new educational movement, a vice president of the branch, who gave an exposition of the unifying influence of Swedenborg. Major Clarke of the immigrant bureau told of his stay at Green Acre, paying a grateful tribute to its beauties and to the fraternal spirit which prevails there. Mr. Albert S. Dulin, president of the Vedanta Society, also a vice president, discussed the broad and in-clusive foundation upon which the ancient philosophy of which he is an exponent, is built. Mrs. Benjamin, wife of the ex-minister to Persia, read some maxims of Aristotle in praise of unity. Mr. Haggerty responded to an urgent request to speak on behalf of the press.

Miss Farmer was the principal speaker, and the company of about 100 listened attentively to her story of Green Acre, of the causes that led to its establishment and of the ideals that are maintained there. The members of the Washington branch believe that the capital of the country is the natural and legitimate center from which should issue all good and beneficient influences, and have planted their branch with the firm conviction that abundant fruit will be gathered.

Miss Farmer, who makes her headquar-ters when in this city with Dr. and Mrs. Moore, left yesterday for her home at Green Acre, Eliot, Maine, and expects to return to Washington in the near future

Roosevelt Club Gives a Ball.

The large auditorium of the Pythian Temple on 9th street northwest was crowded Tuesday night with members of the club of Spanish war soldiers, sailors and marines and a host of their friends, including a large number of the fair sex. The occasion was the club's first entertainment and ball, which was declared to have been a great success. A delegation of the Minute Men, Maccabees and a large number of members of the United States Engineering Corps and of the Army and Navy Union, in full dress uniform, attended.

Lewis F. Schade delivered an opening address welcoming the visitors on behalf of the club. The Gordon Dramatic and Vaudeville Company gave a pleasing program, after which the dancing began. The music was furnished by Prof. Callan's Orchestra. The committee on arrangements consisted of Capt. A. F. Baumbauer, Capt. J. J. Gordon, Capt. William A. Hickey and Capt.

FOUND THE BICYCLIST MASONS CELEBRATE

The one hundred and sixteenth anniversary of the oldest Masonic lodge in the District, Potomac Lodge, No. 5, F. A. A. M. was celebrated last night by a banquet at Masonic Hall, Georgetown. There was present nearly two hundred members, accompanied by their ladies. After the courses had been served an interesting address was delivered by Worshipful Master Charles T.

Mr. Lindsey traced the history of the lodge, stating that its original charter was granted by the Grand Lodge of Maryland, April 21, 1789, and had as its first worshipful master a member named Frièrer. The speaker displayed the historic old gavel with which George Washington laid the corner-stone of the United States Capitol. George stone of the United States Capitol. George Washington, he declared, laid that cornerstone September 18, 1793, and then handed it to Valentine Reintzel, who was at one time the worshipful master of the lodge.

The Grand Lodge of the District, said the speaker, was formed by delegates from five out of six lodges in the jurisdiction January 8, 1811, and Valentine Reintzel was chosen as its first worshipful grand master. In this connection the speaker stated that durthis connection the speaker stated that during its history Potomac Lodge had furnished to the District four grand masters the last one, Malcolm Seaton, new deceased having been elected in 1902.

The speaker stated that the historic gavel used by Washington had been used in pub-lic ceremonies by Presidents Polk, Fillmore, Buchanan, McKinley and Roosevelt. Mr. J. Holdsworth Gordon, the oldest living past master of the lodge was next intro-duced and responded with an address re-plete with humorous anecdotes. Other speakers were Grand Master Luther R. Ginn; William E. Andrews, auditor of the treasury, and Rev. John M. Schick, pastor of the Grace Reformed Church of this city.

Guests of Honor.

Seated at the table of honor were Junior Warden Lem Towers, jr.; Mr. William E. Andrews, auditor for the Treasury Department; Senior Warden Charles H. Williams, Past Master B. W. Murch of Whiting Lodge, Grand Master Lurtin R. Ginn of the District Grand Lodge, Worshipful Master Charles T. Lindsey and Mrs. Lindsey, Past Master J. Holdsworth Gordon, Rev. John M. Schick of Grace Reformed Church. Past Master J. B. Thomas and Mr. C. J.

The officers of Potomac Lodge are: Charles T. Lindsey, worshipful master; Charles H. Williams, senior warden; Lem Towers, jr., junior warden; Richard S. Clifton, senior deacon; Charles J. Gillis, junior deacon; J. H. Yarnall, secretary; Isaac Birch, treasurer; Rev. J. H. W. Blake, chaplain; I. B. Moulton, sentor steward; R. B. Clokey, junior steward; W. Clyde Hunt, master of ceremonies; George W. Allen, tiler.

The committee in charge of the banque George S. Waters, Leroy McNeal, Isaac Birch, Charles H. Williams, Richard S. Clifton, Lem Towers, jr., Richard M. Mul-lett, Benjamin B. Hunt and William S.

During the evening the famous relic which has played such an important part in Potomac Commandery's history, and which is held by the organization as a priceless relic, was in charge of a committee. According to the rules the relic is not permitted to be out of the sight of at least one member of the committee. The three members of the lodge known as the gavel committee are R. B. Clokey, Charles J. Gillis and W. Clyde Hunt.
